As we prepare to honor our mothers this weekend...

1. I hope you felt plenty of love from your students throughout Teacher Appreciation Week. And while I greatly wish we could present an "End of Year Survival Basket" (full of gift cards, food, drink and other essentials) to every one of you, I'm happy to announce that this year's winner (pulled in a random drawing yesterday afternoon) is Tara Blake.
2. Breaking news: The Plymouth County Educators Association has named Kate Dollard and Louis Pires as "Rookie of the Year" award winners. Hard to imagine two more well deserving candidates!
3. I didn't realize until a few days ago that Teacher Appreciation Week coincides with National Nurses Week. And while I would argue that they deserve a week all their own, let's pay tribute to Kristina McManus and Kristine O'Keeffe, the two best school nurses you'll find anywhere. They don't get nearly enough credit for the huge contributions they make to our school each and every day.
4. If you find a spare moment next week (very rare, especially in May, I know...), consider attending one or more of the following: the orchestra and band concert on Tuesday at 7 PM in the auditorium, the Global Citizenship Program's annual symposium on Wednesday at 6 PM in the cafeteria, and/or the choral program's annual Major Works Concert on Thursday at 7 PM at the Lutheran House of Prayer on Main Street. All of them are sure to be fun and memorable events.
5. A few other things that should be on your calendar for next week: our second-to-last faculty meeting on Wednesday at 2:45 PM in the auditorium; grade-level assemblies for election speeches during C Block on Friday; and "Breathe Out" activities throughout the day next Friday. And then MCAS returns the following week, with two days of math exams on May 21st and 22nd. You can expect to get that schedule soon.

Finally, to the many of you who have chosen the highest calling of them all: Happy Mother's Day! And have a great weekend!
